New Rebellion in Georgia.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, September 30.—The Tribune's Atlanta special says: A call having been published last week for a Republican Convention in Warrenton, the Republicans assembled there yesterday, with a view of holding a peaceable political meeting A considerable number of loyal men from the neighboring towns arrived at Warrenton by trains to attend the meeting. They were met by the Sheriff and a committee of citizens, who advised them not to enter the town. The Sheriff told them that the citizens of the town were determined that there should be no meeting. He added that he had consulted with them and sought to pacify them and induce them to allow the meeting to be held, and that his advice had been in vain. The Republicans then went to a colored church outside the town and held their meeting. When the speakers were nearly through, news was received from a creditable source that the citizens were organizing in town and drilling in military tactics preparatory to an attack, and the Republicans were advised to fly to the woods to avoid a serious riot, and probable loss of life. They accordingly fled in all directions. The colored people were dreadfully alarmed. It is asserted on the most trustworthy authority that from three to four hundred white men, fully armed, went to Warrenton specially to prevent the meeting.

NEW ORLEANS, September 30.—In the Senate, yesterday, the Committee appointed to investigate the actions of the Board of Registration, made a report, which says the Board, of which William Baker is Chairman, has given instructions to the various Boards of Supervisors throughout the State that they are wholly unwarranted in theory, and entirely beyond the law, that their action in refusing to recognize the naturalization papers from the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh District Courts was wrong, the Board having no power to pass upon the validity of a judicial act; and these instructions deprive persons of the benefit of Article 99, of the Constitution, which deprivation is unjust and clearly against the Constitution. FOREIGN NEWS BY MAIL.

Late foreign papers contain the following:

A Fenian had been arrested at Sheffield and directed the police where one hundred arms and one thousand rounds of ammunition were stored.

According to the Independence Belge the the Grand Ducy of Baden acceded to the North German Federation some weeks ago, and the French Government, although made aware of the fact, resolved for the present to consider this step a purely German question, not being yet prepared to engage in war. This news is too important to be accepted finally without confirmation.

A terrible explosion took place at Metz, September 18th, at a cartridge manufactory. Sixteen women and thirty men were killed and eighty women and thirty men severely wounded.

The London correspondent of the New York Times says the question of peace and war in Europe trembles in the balance. Only one man can tell us to which it will incline. The King of Prussia, who has been making a tour in North Germany, I learn had a chilling reception in Dresden. He says he wants peace, but is ready for war and will fight it out to the end. It is for the Emperor Napoleon to decide.

The other day at Chalons the camp broke into cries of "au Rhine," (to the Rhine,) and the Emperor would not even say a few words to his Generals, lest their purport might be mistaken. The French army is ready and fierce for fighting. The nation sympathises with the army. It remains to be seen whether the Emperor is strong enough to hold both in check. If not, the words "En Avant" may come to you through the Atlantic Cable.

The committee charged with the arrangements of the Peace Congress, which was to open at Berne on the 22d inst., have published their programme. After affirming that religion, as matter of individual conscience as well as public instruction, ought to be eliminated from political institutions, in order that churches may no longer prevent the free development of society, that the United States of Europe can have no organization except one founded upon popular and Democratic institutions having federation as the bond, and that the existing economy system ought to be radically changed, they protest in the name of the League against any attempt at social reform made by any despotic power, and propose for discussion the following questions:

1st. What relations to peace and liberty are the advantages of the abolition of permanent armies and national militia, or even of a general disarmament?

2d. What is the relation of the social and social economic question with that of peace by means of liberty?

3d. What in relation to peace and liberty are the advantages of the separation of Church and State?

4th. How may the federative principle be applied in different countries, and what may be the Constitution of the United States of Europe?

At this Congress women will be allowed the same rights as men. They are invited to take part in the discussions and propose questions which especially interest themselves.

To His Excellency Gov. Geary:

DEAR SIR: Accompanying this you will receive my resignation of the office of Judge of the Supreme Court. LOCAL POLITICS.

Meeting at City Hall.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic Republican meetings of the campaign held in this city, assembled last evening at City Hall. An observable feature of the occasion was the presence of ladies, a large number of whom were seated in the audience. After the arrival of the Seventh and Eight Wards "Marching Phalanx," the escort of honor to the speakers of the evening, the meeting organized on motion of Captain W. B. Cook, as follows:

President—James I. Kuhn, Esq.

Vice Presidents—Charles H. Lowe, Esq., John Flack, Esq., Josiah Cohen, Esq., Geo. Finley, Esq., C. Snively, Esq., John Habermehl, Esq., Samuel Riddle, Esq., John F. Jennings, Esq., John Brown, Jr., C. Wettach, John B. Haines, Joseph Shoeb, Dr. Joseph Abel, Barclay Preston, Dr. R. M. Tindle, John C. Harper, Jacob Covode, Dr. J. J. Covert, Edward House, E. P. Jones, Esq., Capt. A. P. Callow, Charles Bierman, George Braun, James E. Dickson, D. D. Barclay, Robert Marshall, Edward Dithridge, A. G. Cubbage, H. A. Collier.

Secretaries—Members of the Republican press.

The President being introduced by Capt. Cook, said:

MY FRIENDS AND FELLOW-CITIZENS—I thank you for the honor which you have conferred upon me by calling upon me to preside over this meeting. I came here to listen and not to speak, which is to me a much more agreeable task. But upon such an occasion as this I cannot refrain from saying a few words. Gentlemen, you have before you, in this contest for the Presidency, the men who fought for the protection of the Government on one side, and those who endeavored to destroy it on the other side. On the one side you have Grant and Colfax, the nation's friends, and on the other side Seymour and Blair, who are in the interest of those who attempted to take the life of the nation. The Democracy among other charges, say we have burdened the Government with a large national debt. I ask, gentlemen, who forced that debt upon us. Was it not the same Democratic party who are now opposing us? They cry out for retrenchment.

I have always observed one fact connected with these democrats, gentlemen, and that is they always call out for retrenchment when they are out of office; but let them in office and you hear no more of retrenchment from them. He then referred to the extravagance of the democrats when they were in power, and mentioned the municipal government of New York, which he said cost about $22 per man, while the expenses of the national government would not amount to $10 per man.

The Democracy say that our candidate is not a statesman. It is not the man who makes long speeches who is the best statesman. Gen. Grant does not make long speeches, but always speaks to the point.

After some further remarks in regard to the candidates he read a dispatch from Hon. G. A. Grow, announcing that Mr. Matthews, who was expected to address the meeting, could not be present.

He then introduced to the meeting E. S. Miner, Esq., of Honesdale.

Mr. Miner took the stand, and in a few words excused himself, in consequence of a severe affection of the throat, which had rendered his voice so weak that it would be impossible to make himself heard.

F. B. Penniman, Esq., being present, was called upon to address the meeting.

Mr. F. B. Penniman was warmly received by the audience and made one of those characteristic and exhaustive argumentative speeches which have made him so popular and effective as a public speaker throughout the State this campaign. He divided his remarks under three heads—Bonds, Greenbacks and Taxation, and addressed himself especially to the thinking part of his audience, to merchants, manufacturers, laborers and business men generally. He dived to the bottom of the intricate subjects under discussion and fully developed, as he progressed, a thorough knowledge and acute comprehension of the financial problems which are forced upon the people, and if any went away without food for reflection and thought it was no fault of the speaker. He concluded with a glowing exhortation to the Republicans to make good use of the short time intervening between this and the election day, and gave most cheering accounts from all sections of the State, into which he had been called as a speaker, and where he had endeavored to acquaint himself with the political prospects.

At the conclusion of Mr. Penniman's remarks William Cornhill, Esq., was introduced and entertained the audience with a witty and entertaining discourse. The meeting adjourned with three cheers for Grant and Colfax and three cheers for the Union.

Enthusiastic Meeting in the Sixteenth Ward.

One of the most interesting and enthusiastic meetings of the campaign was held on Tuesday evening, at the Wigwam of the Sixteenth ward Tanner Club. The young ladies of the ward, under the direction of Mrs. Annie Harper, Mrs. Donaldson, Miss Dunlap, and Emma Niesinthaler, had gained possession of the wigwam during the day and quietly, without the knowledge of the Club, so handsomely decorated it with evergreens, flowers, wreaths and flags that when the members met in the evening they could hardly realize that it was their old headquarters. It was, indeed, very handsome. The decorations consisted of two arches of pine branches thrown across the front over the speakers' and secretaries' tables, and a long coil of evergreens hung in festoons down the center of the hall. The sides and windows were also draped with coils of evergreens, which were all ornamented with flowers, &c., making it really into a bower of roses instead of a rough, unsightly frame Wigwam.

The meeting was called to order by Capt. A. B. Boal, and as the Club was quietly going through the regular week's business they were again astonished at the sight of a procession, headed by the band of the Club, followed by the Secretary, R. A. Smith, bearing a handsome silk flag, and the ladies who had been at work at the Wigwam during the day. They marched in regular military style, and on reaching the stand in the Wigwam Mr. R. H. Smith, on behalf of the young ladies of the ward, presented to the Club the handsome silk flag in a very appropriate speech, as follows:

Ladies, Gentlemen and Comrades of the Sixteenth Ward Tanner Club: We have assembled here to-night to celebrate the happiest event that has occurred since the organization of your Club, and at the request of the loyal and brave ladies of this Ward, who wish to give to your earnest endeavors in preserving your beloved country from the horrors of another civil war their heartiest encouragement, and to place a page in the history of your Club that will cause the sternest heart among you to throb with the holiest emotions at times when your thoughts revert to the recollections of the many hours of true devotion you have spent in the rank and file of this club of loyal, liberty-loying citizens, and when in after life thought speeds his faithful charger o'er the past, let the memories of this night bring you back to the time when your hearts beat quick with the most endeared feelings for these noble ladies who have met with you here to-night to present to you, the Sixteenth Ward Tanner Club, this beautiful silk flag. Take it now and guard it as it should be guarded; never let the traitor's hand pollute its bright colors with his touch; never allow a foreign foe to insult the beloved land it represents, and never let it be said that the loyal ladies of the Sixteenth ward did want for strong hands and willing hearts to shield them from all danger. Let it always be at your front to encourage you at every step during this great and important political struggle and to urge you on to renewed earnestness and greater vigilance, and may the sight of its lovely folds make you always renew your pledges of devotion to your cause and your country. When after the labors of the campaign are over, and victory perches herself upon our banner; when New England sends in thunder tones her hundred thousand majority for Grant and Colfax; when the great West proclaims as in days gone by that the Republic is safe; when the loyal men of the South speak as they were wont to speak; when the great States of the Lakes proclaim in shouts of victory that the arch of triumph is complete and Pennsylvania drives home the Keystone, making the election of our great warrior, U. S. Grant, and our great statesman, Schuyler Colfax, certain beyond all doubt, then let this glorious flag more beautifully wave "o'er the lands of the free and the homes of the brave," and let the wildest shouts of victory be from the loyal hearts of this Sixteenth Ward Tanner Club. Take it, and may God bless this Club, our cause and our country.

Captain A. B. Boal, received it in behalf of the Club in a very neat and appropriate speech, as follows:

Dear Ladies, Gentlemen and Fellow-Comrades: The emotions the ceremonies of this evening cause to rise in my heart almost overcome me, and I can scarcely find words to express to these young ladies the feelings of gratefulness I have towards them for this handsome testimonial of their kind feelings and their appreciation of our earnest desire to protect their happy homes from the sorrow and desolation of another civil strife. On behalf of this Club I do most heartily thank them for this flag, and can assure them that it shall always be to us a beacon of light, and during our darkest moments and hardest toil the sight of it shall always revive our energies and urge us on to more earnest vigilance. And I can assure them that among these brave men there is not one but would risk his life and all to defend any of these brave ladies from any harm, and never shall the vile traitor polute it with his touch nor insult our beloved land.

Again I must return my thanks to you, for my feelings cannot find expression in words. May God bless these ladies and ever shield them from all sorrow and trials during this fleeting life, and may their pathway ever be strewn with as bright flowers as these with which they have bedecked our old headquarters, and may the fond memory of this night be as evergreen in their hearts as these lovely festoons of pines. Again I say, God bless you.

Mr. Townsend Adams then made a few remarks on the occasion, after which the meeting adjourned, singing the good old tune, "Auld Lang Syne."

The meeting was largely attended by the citizens of this and other wards, and all went home feeling delighted with the night's entertainment.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE DOVES.

Aside the lattice swing,
Clap thus thy hands aloud;
Lo! unseen spirits shake the poplar trees;
Down floats a cooling breath, a tender hush,
Then swiftly rush,
Through fragrant apple-boughs, a cloud
Of fluttering doves on wide-spread wing.

Fearless they hover round,
Ruffling their shining pinnes,
Some white, hiding their pink feet in snowy down;
And some of changeful gray and purple hue,
With ripples blue,
Circling they shake the apple-blooms
And scatter Summer snows around.

Loud have the poets sung
In many a tuneful rhyme
Of peerless lark, offspring of light and dew—
Enshrined in many a rich and rose-hued tale
The nightingale—
Lauded sweet birds of every clime
In dulcet rhythm and roundelay.

But high above all bir'ds,
In rays of heavenly light,
Soars the white dove—emblem of purity,
The spirit-bird, shining winged love!
The heaven-sent dove.
And in His Word, for our most dear delight,
Their record blossoms with its promise bright.

—When corruption is openly boasted of in the streets, we must have come to a pretty pass. Last night we were in a street car with several Democrats, one said there were full a thousand men in line in the Allegheny torchlight delegation to Blair's meeting at the St. Charles. "A thousand," hooted the other, "why there were twelve hundred torches, all voters, for I bought them myself." This ardent Democrat may have meant to say that he bought the torches, but if he did he should have expressed himself better, as he left the impression of being a party to a vile piece of bribery.

—A good deal of disagreeable talk is going on about Captain Mayne Reid and his recent works. We hope this will not let the recently arisen generation forget the delight with which they devoured his books, or the immense amount of instruction they derived from some of them. He, of all others, possessed the faculty of imparting instruction and genuine amusement together; his juvenile books were and are among the best in existence, and there is many a man who, as a boy, first had his attention turned to the beauties and wonders of nature by this harum scarum delightful Captain.

—Miss Susan B. Anthony said in the National Labor Congress, in session in New York last week, that she had been engaged in reformatory movements for the last twenty years, and that now she did not possess five hundred dollars to her name. Which, all things considered, is full compensation for all the good she may have done. There are plenty of poor women, Miss Anthony's equals in talent and superiors in sense, who have attended to their own duties and kept their fingers out of other people's pies, who are no richer than Miss Anthony.

—Conflicting reports are going about as to whether Frank Blair was intoxicated or not when he was here. We do not believe he was, for no amount of experience, and we are prepared to refute the assertions of Mr. Blair's enemies that he has had much experience in hiding the effects of too much liquor, would have taught him to so completely disguise the fact if it had been so. Then again we believe that Mr. Blair has as much sense in this particular as Andrew Johnson, who reserved his public exhibitions of intoxication until he was sure of his place. We hope Mr. Blair will do likewise, as in that case the public will never be pained by seeing him drunk.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily with six feet and a half in the channel; now that it hat got down pretty well it is not likely to recede so rapidly, and the chances are that we will have more rain, before it gets down to low water mark. The weather continues clear and pleasant, and all that could possibly be desired for the transaction of out door business.

The Lorena, in command of Capt. Sam. Shuman, arrived from Cincinnati; the Grey Eagle, arrived and departed as usual.

The Glendale, from St. Louis, was due last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning.

The hull for Capt. A. H. Shaw's new Arkansas River boat is to be launched today. Capt. Shaw arrived here some days since.

Com. W. J. Kountz, is at St. Louis, in connection with business in regard to his mountain steamers.

The Bellevernon, Capt. J. J. Darragh, is filling up rapidly for St. Louis, and will be ready to take her departure this evening. She is a regular Pittsburgh and St. Louis packet, and there is no better boat in the trade.

The Glasgow, Captain Andy Robinson, Jr., is the regular Express packet for Cincinnati and Louisville, leaving to-morrow.

The Bayard, Capt. A. S. Shepard, is the regular packet for Parkersburg, leaving promptly at noon.

The Yorktown, Capt. Geo. W. Ebbert, with the veteran Standish Peppard in the office, is announced to leave for Cincinnati and Louisville on Saturday.

The towboat Antelope, which has been very unlucky recently, met with another mishap on Tuesday night. She left thisport about nine o'clock Tuesday night, with five barges loaded with coal, destined for Cairo, and in the darkness stuck all of her barges at White's Ripple, but succeeded in getting them all off but two. The balance of her tow is lying at Sewickley, where they will remain until the river rises again. The two barges aground will be saved.

The following towboats left yesterday: For Cincinnati—Fearless, 6 barges, 60,000 bushels coal. For Louisville—Sam. Roberts, 6 barges, 60,000 bushels coal. The Coal Hill departed for Cincinnati Tuesday evening, with 7 barges and 70,000 bushels coal. This makes the total run of coal on the present rise 2,180,000 bushels. The J. S. Neal, announced yesterday for Louisville, with 4 barges and 40,000 bushels of coal, will not get away at this time

—The Camelia left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Monday.

—The Kellogg, from St. Louis, arrived at New Orleans Wednesday night with three barges, containing 17,600 packages.

—The towboat Boaz, with ten barges, containing 200,000 bushels of coal, passed by Cincinnati for New Orleans at noon on Monday. She had to lower her chimneys to pass under the bridge.

—The City Council of Memphis have appointed Aldermen Cartwright, Ruffin and Goodlett as a committee to get information as regards the Congressional excursion, and report at the next meetings on the same.

—The Louisville Courier of Monday says: The tow-boat Lake Erie came up over the falls, yesterday, with a tow of empty barges, and passed up for Pittsburgh. She made the round trip from this port to Cairo and back, taking down 15 loaded barges, and bringing back 3 empty ones, in 5 days.

—The St. Paul Press, of Friday, says: A sharp snow storm visited this region on Wednesday night, covering the pavements and housetops. Further south it was much more severe, covering the ground to the depth of 2 inches. The cold spell from which we are suffering extends quite generally over the country.

—In coming out of the Tennessee river, last Friday, the Tacony struck the pier of the Louisville and Memphis bridge, across the Tennessee river, losing almost her entire starboard guard. The kitchen, pantry and wheel-shaft were saved, but two flanges and a pitman were broken. The accident was caused by the bridge-tender being so slow in opening the draw that the steamer lost steerage way and drifted against the pier.

—A St. Louis telegram under date of Monday says: The Marine Charitable Association, composed of steamboatmen, held a meeting to-day, and resolved to put their society in active working order, it having suspended operations the past few months. The movement is made in consequence of the resolutions adopted at the recent convention at Louisville, and with the view of a combined effort of increasing the rates of freights and fare on river steamers. Only two or three prominent steamboatmen here are not connected with the association.

—The Dubuque Herald, of Friday, says: Competition seems to be quiet on the levee—each line is getting all it can in a quiet way, without much cutting under being made public..... At least two inches more of water was added to the river yesterday. .....The Milwaukee came down with the largest passenger list of the season. She was literally packed with people fore and aft, and left McGregor with 300 persons, having on the down trip booked 1,000 names. She had the down run all to herself, as the opposition boat Dubuque had been hauled off for repairs.

—Capt. W. M. Chaney, communicates the following to the Cincinnati Commercial: I promise Capt. Wm. Mars, of tow-boat Baltic, I would stop and give you the particulars in relation to the loss of his brother, Capt. Aleck Mars, on last Monday night. After a car ful examination I found that he had gone out forward, on a model barge, and instructed the men, who were pumping the barges, in relation to their duties. The night was dark, and it was running, and from all the evidence it is supposed, and I am satisfied, that he fell off a plank which led from the model barge to the tow-boat. He was a large man, with rather coarse features, and plainly clad.

GEN. MCCLELLAN is represented by telegraph as being in New York, enjoying the freedom of the city, and being a perfect lion. In the battle-field there was nothing of the lion about him.

THE Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention, which opens to-day in Philadelphia, will unquestionably be a grand success. Most of the men who were Governors of loyal States are already there.

THERE are reasons for believing that a plot has already been formed by the rebels and Copperheads at Washington to assassinate General GRANT on the event of his election to the Presidency.

SOME of the Democracy want SEYMOUR to withdraw, while other prominent leaders of the party are discussing the best method of getting BLAIR off the track. We advise the Democracy to defer printing their tickets as long as possible, until these questions can be settled.

AS THE final castastrophe of the war approached, GRANT told SHERIDAN to "Push things." That is what the Republicans are now engaged in doing all over Pennsylvania. So much activity, and so intelligently directed, was never seen before in the history of parties in this Commonwealth. Let no one doubt as to the result. This pushing precedes a splendid and conclusive victory.

IT IS announced that Mr. GEORGE D. PRENTICE was discharged from employment in the Louisville Journal office, on the 23d inst. This once distinguished writer is now sixty-five years old, broken in constitution and penniless. The journal which his talents contributed so much to build up into prosperity and repute, is now controlled by Democrats of the latest modern school, who turn out the poor old veteran to live or starve as he may.

THE Indians of the plains are again upon the war path, incited thereto by their general worthlessness as well as the injuries inflicted upon them by the agents of the government. There seems to be no deliverance from this disturbance except in that extinction to which the red race is fast hastening. If the whites would deal honestly with the savages, and if the on-going of civilization were compatible with their instincts, a better and speedier termination might be hoped

...MOCRATIC CANDIDATES, office holders ...derstrappers generally, in all parts ... Commonwealth, are busying themselves in personally distributing the SEYMOUR counterfeit greenbacks, and a large variety of Copperhead pictures, usually rude cuts, printed on small cards, with a colored Democrat or a "bondholder" for the principal figure, and as many electioneering lies as will fill the remaining space. Look one of the colporteurs of falsehood in the face, when you catch him at his dirty work, and see if he has forgotten how to blush.

STATE SUPREME COURT.

JUDGE STRONG has resigned his place on the bench of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, on account of bad health. As his resignation comes too late to be filled at the approaching election, Governor GEARY will have to supply the vacancy.

The name of Hon. H. W. WILLIAMS will be presented by the Republicans of Allegheny county to supply the vacancy. It would be eminently just that the appointment be awarded him, as the people of the Commonwealth at the ballot-box last fall, chose him to sit upon the Supreme Bench. Their will, however, was set aside through fraud and Mr. SHARSWOOD took the place Judge WILLIAMS was called to fill. The opportunity of now carrying out the expressed will of the people in the elevation of Judge WILLIAMS to the Supreme Bench, is presented to Governor GEARY, and we hope he will not disregard the strong pressure made by the Republicans at this end of the State to that effect. No legal gentleman in the State is better qualified for the high position. The possessor of rare natural talent and acquired ability, of a mind well-stored with legal lore, a generous disposition and large stock of moral courage to enable him to do right, and be just in all things, and on all occasions, Judge WILLIAMS, above all others, is worthy the appointment solicited for him by his friends. Will the Governor appoint him?

—At a late hour last evening we were shown a dispatch from the Governor to Judge WILLIAMS, reading as follows:

HARRISBURG, PA., Sept. 30, 1868.

Hon. Henry W. Williams:

I hereby tender you the appointment of Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, vice Hon. William Strong resigned. Will you accept? JOHN W. GEARY.

Judge WILLIAMS has notified the Governor of his acceptance.

LOOKING BACK.

MR. WM. A. GRAHAM of North Carolina recently gave expression to some of his legal crochets in a letter to General ROSECRANS, which has been published. He is unable to comprehend why the people of his State, having surrendered in good faith to the national government, accepting the abrogation of slavery and repudiating the doctrine of secession, were not restored at once, and without further condition, to all the rights and immunities they enjoyed previously to the Rebellion, as constituting a sovereign and independent commonwealth.

The trouble with this gentleman is that he takes a strictly technical and narrow view of the case upon which he discourses. In this respect he falls into an error common to most lawyers. What he needs is to rise from the low ground of special pleading into the higher region of genuine statesmanship. Let him do this, if he has capacities equal to the task, then read the Constitution, and he will find what now appears to him strange and anomalous to be consistent and indispensable. Finding in the Constitution a President or Executive head, a Congress or law-making power, a Supreme Court or law-expounding body, he will also find therein an Army and Navy or a power to wage war, offensive and defensive, either to repel invasion from without or to suppress insurrection within. He will farther find that this war power is not regulated by the Civil Code, is not amenable to the Courts, but is, from the very nature of the case, a law unto itself. In other words, he will find that military law is recognized by the Constitution as absolutely as the common law or the body of statutes; nay, that military law is part and parcel of the Constitution.

In the nature of things, the case cannot be otherwise. Government does not exist as an advisory corporation; that is, as a body seeking to control the conduct of the people by giving them good counsels. It exists as a mandatory establishment; that is, an organism having authority to prescribe the rule of conduct to all the inhabitants living under it, and having force at hand to compel obedience to its mandates.

How much force has the Government of the United States a right to use in a particular instance? Just as much as is needful to accomplish the end in view, if it has so much in its possession. The right of self-defence in a nation corresponds to the right of self-preservation in each individual composing it. If a man is assailed he has an undoubted right to use so much violence as is necessary to repel the aggression and make himself safe. Of course, he is afterwards answerable to the laws, and may be held to show that he exerted no more force than was requisite; but even then the presumption of judges and jurors will run in his favor. But a nation is responsible to nobody for the amount of force it wields, or the use it puts it to, in suppressing a revolt. Its own sense of honor and expediency is all that binds it; and this has led our National Government to make a more magnanimous use of military power than any other nation that exists, or that ever existed in the tide of time.

With what show of reason do men who sat the Constitution at defiance, who made prodigious war upon it with intent to utterly overthrow and demolish it, appeal to it for protection? They only who have respected the Constitution themselves have a right to hold it up as a measure of adjudication either between individuals or communities. But it is simply preposterous for men who appealed to the right of revolution, which is anterior to all Constitutions and superior to all, to undertake to limit the action of those whose powers they defied. They who take the sword must and will be judged by the sword; for there is no other effectual instrumentality by which to judge them.

It does comparatively well for ignorant men, who have forfeited all their rights and liberties, including even their lives, under the civil as well as the military code, to go about prating of the Constitution. Their want of discernment protects them from the pitiless contempt which would otherwise be poured out upon them. But when men like Mr. GRAHAM, who understand what constitutions of government are, and what rebellions necessarily entail upon those who engage therein, unless they are successful, undertake to show that rebels have a legitimate shelter in organic laws, they expose themselves to boundless derision.

A Constitution is the superior law of a people; but still, only a law. It is liable to be altered or abolished the same as any other law, though special formalities are required for its abrogation or amendment. No Constitution ever has been devised that accurately met the wants of any people for a century. Nor will Constitutions be any more permanent in the future than they have been in the past. The Medes and Persians, under an impulse of unbounded national egotism, made all their laws, organic and statutory, unchangeable in form. Yet they were not only changed, but literally swept away. The development of civil society—the inevitable flow of the ages—was not impeded by the lofty pretension of immutability. Each Constitution must be changed, from time to time, or it will soon cease to be adapted to the necessities of the people for which it was designed.

In view of such facts it is amusing to hear certain expounders of law declaim. They seem to imagine that the Constitution of the United States is superior to the people who live under it; indeed, that the people were created mainly that the Constitution might have subjects to operate upon. That was the Jewish idea of Sunday; that the institution was greater than the people; that the people were made for it, and not it for the people. Wherever this thought reappears, it is always a fallacy. Men are superior to their institutions, and whenever they are wise, will make their institutions conform to the condition they happen to be in. That is what the people of the United States have been doing, and what they will continue to do so long as they are fit to maintain popular Government.

Nor is this all. Having conquered the rebellion, they mean the rebels shall consent to such terms of restoration as shall be needful to guard with reasonable care against fresh outbreaks in time to come. No jabber concerning the constitutional rights of rebels or rebel States, will deter them from executing their purpose. This is not unreasonable or oppressive, but a dictate of ordinary prudence. A vast flood or tornado never yet left a district of country as it was when it came. No sane man, under such circumstances, expects the old States to be restored precisely as they were. Political convulsions are as inexorable as physical ones. They are wise who instead of striving to get back to what was before, desire to do the best they possibly can under the altered situation of affairs.

A DEMOCRATIC BACK-OUT.

Some weeks ago, at a Republican meeting held in Library, Snowden township, the chairman, J. MILLER, Esq., extended a challenge to the Democrats to bring out a Democratic speaker to discuss, with a Republican speaker, the issues of the campaign.

The Democrats of the township accepted the challenge, and upon consultation with the Republicans, Monday afternoon last was fixed upon as the time and Library as the place. Hon. THOS. HOWARD was chosen as the Republican champion, and the Democrats, (after consultation, as we understand, with their friends in the city,) announced A. W. FOSTER, Esq., their candidate for Senator, as the speaker on their side.

Notice of the debate and the debaters was duly published in all the Republican papers, so that full publicity was given to the fact that it was expected to take place.

Well, Monday afternoon came, and with it the great mass of the people on that side of the county, Democrats and Republicans. It was the largest gathering of the people ever witnessed on the southern side of the river.

No notice had been given to the Democrats that Mr. FOSTER would not be present. Mr. HOWARD was promptly on the ground at two o'clock, but no opponent was visible. The meeting waited until half-past three o'clock, but still no Democratic orator put in an appearance; and then the vast crowd present organized by choosing a Democratic Chairman, one Democratic and one Republican Vice President, and two Secretaries, one of each party.

Mr. HOWARD then ascended to the stand, and for two hours discussed, in a manly and honorable way, the questions in the campaign. It was an eloquent, able and convincing argument, exhaustive in its logic and unanswerable in the conclusions, drawn from its premises. It was an effort exceeding creditable to Mr. HOWARD, as, indeed, all his numerous speeches made in this campaign have been.

The Democrats present were much chagrined at the failure of FOSTER to show himself, but they all united in bearing testimony to the courtesy with which they had been treated by Mr. HOWARD. Many of them, no doubt, listened for the first time to a Republican speech, and it is to be hoped that it will do all of them a power of good.

A STUPID EFFORT has been made by one DELMAR to show the inaccuracy of recent official and Republican statements touching the National finances. It is the same person who was removed from employment in the Treasury Department, last winter, for incompetency and is only known as a ludicrous humbug. He prepared, while in office, a pamphlet, intended for European circulation at the Paris exposition, which was so full of stupid and ridiculous blunders regarding our Government and the geography and resources of our country that Secretary McCulloch issued an order to suppress it, and the whole edition was accordingly burned. The absurdity of his latest performance is shown in his conclusions that there must be a deficit of $151,000,000 at the end of the present fiscal year, but that the year commenced with a balance of $144,000,000 remaining over from last year, of unexpended appropriations. He makes no attempt to reconcile the two conclusions with each other, or to explain how "Radical misrule" neglected to spend so much available money last year.

THE OLD GAME OF FRAUD.

It is perfectly well understood by all parties that the opposition have no hope of carrying the October election in this State except through the systematic wholesale repetition of their habitual frauds in naturalization and colonization. As to the latter, our own local columns, and most of our exchanges from the border counties of the Commonwealth, bare ample testimony to the progress of this rascally work. The naturalization swindle is also so vigorously and impudently pushed that a number of arrests have been already made in Philadelphia, of leading Democrats, whose frauds and perjuries were so manifest that they have been held to bail for indictment and trial. But even this has not arrested the course of rascality in that party. The Press of Tuesday says:

"Yesterday seven hundred and twenty naturalization papers were granted by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in three hundred minutes. In many of these cases the oaths were administered by the tipstaves in the absence of the judge charged with the duty of granting naturalizations. It is openly asserted, and we believe capable of proof, that naturalization papers, forged or otherwise, have been issued in blank, signed, certified, and bearing the great seal of the court, to be filled up with names as occasion may require."

The Supreme Court has ordered that in the future, "the names of the vouchers shall be endorsed on the papers," but this will not wholly remedy the mischief.

As in Philadelphia, so here and in other counties of the State, our desperate opponents are pushing, as far and as fast as they dare, their rascally purpose of swamping the ballot-boxes with illegal votes. The only remedy for this is to watch them well and punish them promptly.

How Democrats Carry Elections.

John Casey, an honest Irish laborer on the Clearfield railroad, was summoned to appear before the Legislative Investigating Committee last winter to testify in relation to the frauds committed at the election polls in ...lipsburg, Centre county. As a law abiding citizen he came to Harrisburg and told the story in his own honest way, which is recorded in the Legislative Record, page 1411. It reads as follows:

"John Casey, sworn—I was working on the railroad for Mr. Collins at the October (1867) election; was boarding in Philipsburg, where I voted with the other men; Mr. Lede took me up to vote and gave me the naturalization paper, and I put it in; cannot read; am as ignorant as a baste; I put the paper in my pocket; cannot tell what became of it; I was never naturalized; never was in a court before this; Lede told me to vote; I was working near Mr. Collins' store; came the day that O'Meara did to Philipsburg; I voted Democratic."

Such is the testimony of an honest Irishman. These words are the verbatim report of the testimony given by Casey under oath before the Investigating Committee of the Senate, and four days after the examination when the above was elicited he was found in the road near Clearfield, brutally murdered, beaten to death with clubs. He had undoubtedly been killed lest he should tell more, and to wipe out every trace of the crime at the polls, on the night of the murder, two men, on a forged order, obtained from his landlady all his papers and destroyed them. Dead men tell no tales; and the agents who seduced John Casey into committing a crime against the country will probably never be known in this world.

WHILE BLAIR and the Northern Copperheads are bawling themselves hoarse against negro equality and suffrage their rebel friends at the South are about evenly divided as to the duty of murdering the blacks or the policy of wheedling them with soft words. In Georgia and Texas the revolver and bowie-knife are in vogue, but in Tennessee, on the other hand, the Democratic State Central Committee have squarely recognized and endorsed negro suffrage. Their address makes this promise:

"No colored citizen of the State, uniting with us in the overthrow of a common tyranny, and the redemption of our noble State, shall be disturbed in any of his vested rights if, through his agency, our own rights should be restored to us."

The Republican Banner, of Nashville, the Democratic organ, says:

"The colored man has the right of suffrage in the Southern States. He can never be deprived of it without ruinous political agitation, and probably bloodshed. The people of the South, both white and black, need peace. The interests of the two races are identical. Each will have to make concessions to the other. Sensible men of both races now see most clearly that disfranchisement is inconsistent with the perpetuity of constitutional liberty and democratic institutions."

WHEN Mr. WALLACE recently charged that the convocation of Soldiers and Sailors, which will commence this morning at Philadelphia, was designed to cover and promote frauds upon the elective franchise, he must have forgotten certain testimony taken last winter by a Legislative Committee. The Rev. THOMAS TRACY, corroborating MICHAEL O'MEARA, was the witness.

Rev. Thomas Tracy, sworn—I paid Michael O'Meara five hundred dollars a short time before this case commenced; I gave him the money in his own house in the evening, about a week or two before the assembling of the Legislature; he was to leave the State and remain out three months for the five hundred dollars; Mr. Gorman, boss of Collins, gave me the money to give him; the man who gave the money was the only one who had any knowledge of the transaction, as far as I know I had correspondence with Mr. Wallace on the subject of O'Meara's leaving the State; the only stipulation was that he should remain away three months; I understood it was for him to be gone until after the trial.

A sense of decent shame should have restrained Mr. WALLACE from accusing his fellow citizens.

ONE good turn deserves another. VALLANDIGHAM'S extraordinary efforts to secure the nomination of HORATIO SEYMOUR in the New York Convention have attracted much curious speculation; and the mystery is now explained. In a speech made by General BURNSIDE, at Bristol, R. I, last week, he referred to the arrest of the Ohio rebel traitor and spy, and added that HORATIO SEYMOUR had several interviews with himself (General B.,) expressly for the purpose of preventing the exile of his friend and fellow Democrat. The latter now gratefully cancels the debt.

IN A single club that paraded on the 22d inst., at the Union League meeting in Philadelphia, there marched twenty-five men who voted the Democratic ticket last fall.

The Young Douglas.

Robert M. Douglas, the eldest son of the late Senator Douglas, made a speech, a few days since, at Raleigh, N. C., and denounced in bitter terms those who affected to be his father's friends, and were now using his name to aid the Copperheads. His words might be pondered with profit, if not with pleasure, by the friends of Stephen A. Douglas, wherever found. He said:

"Speaking of him, and feeling that whatever importance any words of mine may have is derived from the name I bear and the affection many still feel toward one who through life proved himself the people's friend, a few words concerning my father may not be deemed inappropriate. It was with feelings of surprise—and I must add, of indignation—that I saw his name inscribed upon one of the transparencies borne in the late Conservative processions. I thought that common decency, at least, would have prevented them from dragging from the tomb the name of the man whom they had betrayed and denounced through life, and, after his death, whose orphan children they had persecuted.

"When gazing upon that name, I remembered the time these same men declared him a traitor to every principle of honor, because he preferred his country to his party, and bitterly denounced him for his efforts to rally the people of the West for the defense of the nation.

"I remember all these when I was declared a degenerate son; and for every quotation they give me from his speeches, I will give them a dozen. When the Sentinel parades a sentence concerning a white man's government, I would remind them of his dying words. When the wife bent over the scarcely breathing form of the expiring statesman and asked if he had no message to send to his children: 'Tell them,' said he, in a voice rendered almost inaudible by the near approach of death, 'to obey and support the Constitution and laws of the land.' This solemn injunction I intend to obey. When I see myself personally abused by the conservative press on account of my political sentiments, and called a traitor to the State in which I was born, I would recall to their recollection the time when I was declared an alien enemy. About the year 1862, a bill was filed summoning Thomas Settle (now Associate Justice of the Supreme Court) and R. A. Ellington to Greensboro to show cause why they should not surrender the property of Robert M. and Stephen A. Douglas, alien enemies of the Confederacy; and when I am denounced as a Yankee and a carpet-bagger, I would remind them of their efforts to drive me an exile from my native State and render me a stranger to the soil that gave me birth. As, however, I have in herited my father's name, and his principles, it is natural that I should inherit their animosity. Nevertheless, it is strange that these men, his bitterest enemies in life, should now claim to be the truest exponents of his principles; but not more strange than that they should now assert themselves the best friends of the Constitution of the United States and the infallible interpreters of its provisions, after they have sacrificed hundreds of thousands of lives and thousands of millions of treasure to trample in the dust that sacred instrument."

REPUBLICAN MASS MEETINGS.

A SLIGHT COLD, COUGH,

Or SORE THROAT may be checked if a reliable remedy is applied at once, but if neglected very soon preys upon the lungs, and the result may prove fatal. The past few weeks of changeable temperature and cold rains are fruitful sources of troubles of the lungs, throat and chest. If you are attacked by a cold, no matter how slight, use at once

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP,

Which is an old and well tried remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, and all Affections of the Pulmonary Organs.

DR SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Is entirely free from any deleterious ingredient, and can be given with perfect safety to the youngest child.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Gives sure and almost immediate relief to hoarseness and that annoying sensation, tickling, in the throat. If you would obtain a reliable remedy, be sure and call for

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP.

If your Druggist does not keep it, ask him to get it for you.

WE ARE NOT CAST IRON.

Cast Iron undergoes marked changes under the alternate action of heat and cold, and the human body is not cast iron. On the contrary, it is a combination of delicate tissues and fibres, which are exquisitely sensitive to atmospheric changes, and, unless protected against sudden and violent variations of temperature by wise precautions, are sure to be disastrously affected by them.

At this season the difference between the temperature of night and day is greater than at any other period of the year, and the stomach, the liver, the bowels and the nervous system are apt to receive violent shocks from these changes, resulting in indigestion, bilious attacks, debility, low nervous fever, fever and ague, remittent fever, &c. Sustain and reinforce these organs, therefore, with the purest and most potent of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, viz: HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. The effect of this matchless invigorant is to brace up the whole vital organization, and regulate its action. Useful at all seasons as a means of promoting perfect digestion, an even and natural flow of bile, and a healthy condition of the bowels and the skin, it is especially necessary in the Fall when the complaints arising from checked perspiration are so common. It is found, by those who are in the habit of using this agreeable and unequalled tonic, that it so strengthens and fortifies the body as to render it proof against the morbid influences which infect the air during the prevalence of epidemics.

DISEASED LUNGS.

There is no doubt whatever that diseases of the lungs, or ulcers of whatever sort, on any of the internal organs may be and are frequently cured, and a complete condition of health established. If the elaborative functions, of which the stomach is the primary and most important one, are restored to a condition to do the repairing of the human system, ulcers or sores, whether upon the lungs the liver, the kidneys or the bowels, or upon the legs, as is frequently the case, can be made to heal, and a complete standard of health re-established.

We have frequently seen these results from the use of Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, a pleasant and agreeable medicine, which will ripen up and carry out the animal economy all effete and used up material. Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is enriched by some of the most valuable plants and herbs known to be useful and curative in all deteriorated states of the human blood, and whilst it adds to its plasma, it at the same time stimulates, gently but effectively, the skin, the kidneys, the liver and the glandular system to sufficient action to enable the body to take on healthful action and eradicate the disease. The sick and afflicted should bear in mind the virtues of this great medicine, and if those who are sufficiently alive to the importance of health, will resort to it in the beginning of a cough or cold, there would be no falling into declines and rapid consumption, so hopelessly incurable, and so mostsurely fatal. Let any one afflicted with any pulmonary disease try but one bottle, and they will be convinced of the value of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure. Sold by the gross, dozen or single bottle at Dr. KEYSER'S Great Medicine store, 130 Wood st.

DR. KEYSER'S RESIDENT OFFICE FOR LUNG EXAMINATIONS AND THE TREATMENT OF OBSTINATE CHRONIC DISEASES, 136 PENN STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA. Office hours from 9 A. M. UNTIL 4 P. M.

September 22, 1868.

THE publication of Minister Dix's recent letter in favor of Grant has brought out two previous letters from him, which we find in the Galena Gazette. One of them was dated in January last, and opens by saying that the writer had "thought for a year that Grant should be President,"—which shows that General Dix is no new advocate of Grant's nomination; and the Gazette says it "should be known that he (Gen. Dix) intends returning to this country in the Spring, no matter how the election results; his advocacy of Gen. Grant, therefore originates in no desire to retain his position abroad." The other letter is of nearly the same nature as the letter published a few days ago by Gen. Dix's own desire. He expresses his belief that Seymour's want of firmness ("I know him well," says General Dix) "would renew the dissensions which have brought so much evil on our country;" and he does not think Seymour "has any of the qualifications which are indispensable to maintain the public tranquility at this juncture."

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of the Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal in ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. The latter the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

Circulars, Pamphlets and full particulars given on application to the Branch Office of the Company in Philadelphia, or its General Agents.

☞LOCAL AGENTS ARE WANTED in every City and Town; and applications from competent parties for such agencies with suitable endorsement, should be addressed TO THE COMPANY'S GENERAL AGENTS ONLY, in their respective districts.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

—The Chicago Tribune of Tuesday says:

During last week the excess of receipts over shipments were: Of flour, 3,544 bbls; of wheat, 362,917 bush; of rye, 26,588 bush; of barley, 66,340 bush; making an aggregate value of considerably over half a million of dollars. To be balanced against this are the excesses of shipments over receipts: Of corn, 123,733 bush, and of oats 127,202 bushels; making an aggregate value of nearly $200,000, and showing that, on the whole, that the amount of money in Grain and Flour held here is increasing.

The banks are paying for very little Grain for shipment to-day, and such cargoes are going forward are principally of Corn and Oats, which do not count up in value as rapidly as Wheat, and the result is that there is but a small amount of Exchange making, and prices have advanced; sales were made between banks in the city this forenoon, at 50c off, and afterward at 25 cents.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

CRUDE.

The Crude market was again very quiet to-day, and compared with yesterday, spot oil is a fraction lower. Sale of 1,000 bbls seller's option, next ten days, at 11⅜; 1,000 all October, at 11⅜; 400 to 500 (36 gravity) to be delivered within a few days at 11⅜; 1 car load at 11⅜; and 2,000 to be delivered between now and April 1st, 1869, seller's option, at 10¼. This last sale shows an advance of a quarter, as the last sale reported for that delivery was at 10. For some days past, there has existed a feeling that prices would rule higher, about the last of this or the first of next month, but thus far these expectations have not been realized, and it is not a little strange that early deliveries sold a shade lower to-day, than they did yesterday. There are many however, who are still very sanguine of better prices within a short space of time, but at this writing the chances seem to be very evenly balanced, and it would take but very little to throw the scale one way or the other.

REFINED.

This was a very interesting day to nearly every one connected with the oil business, being delivery day, as it was believed that the developments brought out would foreshadow the course of the market for next month. So far as we could learn, however, everything passed off quietly, no one that we could hear of being short, and, so far as prices are concerned, there was but little difference between the market of to-day and that of yesterday. There was but a single sale reported, 1,000 bbls, on spot, at 30c; yesterday there were sales reported at 30½ to 30¾c. Late in the afternoon it was reported that October was considerably firmer, with offers to buy at 30½ to 31c. Thus ends another eventful month in the oil business—a month that has been characterized by more violent fluctuations in prices than any other preceding month this year. Eventful too, because many indulged in strong expectations that September would do for them what other months had failed to do.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

The most prominent topic of discussion in commercial circles to-day, was in regard to the "corner" in the Chicago Corn market; a few days since, No. 1 Corn was down to about 90c, while to-day it is up to $1,18. From this, it is evident that those who are "short" will be pretty well squeezed, and that is the intention of those who are long to make the best they can out of the "corner." By the way, we learn that some of our dealers have been operating largely in Corn in Chicago, but unfortunately they sold out too soon, and, as a consequence, the "corner" did them no good. Wheat continues to decline in all of the leading markets; Spring Wheat is now lower than it has been for several years, and the same true of Spring Wheat Flour.

LETTERS FROM EUROPE--NO. 11.

A Visit to the Metropolitan Tabernacle.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LONDON, September, 1868.

Being in London on Lord's day, the 30th of August, we went first of all, as nearly all strangers do, when in the city, to hear Mr. Spurgeon. Having read many of his sermons, especially his earlier published ones, and having read many descriptions of the man and the character and style of his preaching, I had, very naturally, a strong desire to see and hear him. Mr. Spurgeon, though still a young man, has become the principal notability of London, and the Metropolitan Tabernacle, a widely known institution of London. He preaches to the largest congregation of any man in the world, and the church of which he is the pastor, numbering nearly four thousand communicants, is the largest in the world. Twelve or fifteen years ago he came to London, a young man without name or prestige, and without having gone through a regular course of study in either college or seminary, and by his industry and extraordinary ability, he has risen to a commanding and most influential position. His Tabernacle, which was opened for public worship in 1861, looks more like a Grecian Temple, in its exterior than a modern house of worship. In front there is a portico supported by six columns, and the building itself is one hundred and forty-five feet long, eighty-one wide, and sixty-two high. The means of ingress and egress are admirable, there being ten wide doors, two on each side leading to the galleries, and six in front opening into the first floor and leading to the first gallery. The interior of the building is finely constructed; plain, but neat, commodious and substantial. Its acoustic properties are good, and it is well adapted both for seeing and hearing the speaker. The interior is of oval form and has no right angles. The first floor is inclined, two deep galleries run round the whole building, which is somewhat in the style of a concert room, and is lighted by windows from above as well as by side windows. Above the first floor a platform about four and a half feet high is raised, in which is the baptistery, on which stands the communion table, and where Mr. Spurgeon, his Elders and Deacons, sit during the communion service. A flight of stairs of fifteen steps leads on either side from this platform to another which is on a level with the front edge of the floor of the first gallery. This is surmounted by a railing behind which Mr. Spurgeon stands when preaching, so that the first floor is many feet below him, the second gallery many feet above him, and he on a level with those occupying the front seats of the first gallery. He has no pulpit; a small table with an inclined desk upon it supports the Bible, and having read his text he advances to the railing and speaks to the people below him, on a level with him, above him, behind him, all around him. A man who would not be inspired to speak under such circumstances, and with such an immense congregation in sight of him, all eager to catch every word that falls from his lips, certainly could not be a true messenger of Christ to men. The occasion and the scenes, and above all the desire to save them who hear, must impart fervor and inspiration to the speaker. The hour for commencing public worship in the morning is a quarter to eleven. We went early; and passing though the gate that opens into the church-yard, a few paces brought us to a second gate between the corner of the church and the side fence. Through these, one on each side, the members of the church are admitted by ticket. Handing a card, with name and address on it, to the officials who stand at the gate, we passed along, entered the building, ascended a flight of stairs to the first gallery, and were shown to seats by one of the gentlemanly deacons. Ten minutes before the time for commencing the service, the front doors were thrown open and the crowd in waiting outside poured in. In a few moments every seat in the spacious edifice was occupied, and some, though not many, stood during the entire service. One of the deacons assured me that the Tabernacle will seat six thousand persons, and that there is standing room for one thousand more. Precisely at the time Mr. Spurgeon came on the platform and began the services by an invocation. A hymn was then sung, in the singing of which the whole congregation joined. There is no organ, and no choir, that I saw. A precentor, who stood on the platform near Mr. Spurgeon, started the tune, which was each time named by Mr. Spurgeon himself. He "lined" the hymn, as the Scotch say. A stanza was sung and then the congregation paused while he read the next stanza, and so on to the close. It was a pleasing sight to see such a large congregation standing engaged in singing, and rapturous to hear so many voices raised in praise to the risen Saviour. The Scripture lesson was the 4th ch. of 2d Cor., on which, or on portions of which, Mr. S. commented as he read. His remarks were apt and well-timed. After prayer and the singing of another hymn, he announced that his text would be found in 1 Cor. 15 ch. 23 v: "I die daily." His subject was The Art of Dying Daily. I cannot give aven an analysis of the sermon. It would require too much space. Suffice it to say that the sermon was good, scriptural and impressive, but in nowise remarkable. I have heard as good sermons both before and since by ministers of whom the great world knows nothing. Mr. Spurgeon is original, he is himself, he is no copyist, and there is that about him which attracts, and interests, and also impresses. He is wonderfully gifted; both nature and grace have done much for him, and you feel that you are listening to no ordinary man. A man who can draw together and hold for years such an immense congregation must be far above mediocrity. What is the secret of his power? What are the elements of his unparalleled popularity? Evidently no one thing. He combines many rare powers in a high degree. Let me set down my own estimate of the man, and state wherein I think his success lies. First, he is thoroughly converted, and wholly consecrated to his work as a minister of Christ. He has been renewed: he "has tasted the good word of God, and the power of the world to come," and has a true knowledge of the things of Christ. To be saved conversion is necessary, but to be a true minister a double conversion is necessary. This latter I believe Mr. Spurgeon has. He knows what sin and the cross are, and can rightly speak of them to others. A second element of Mr. Spurgeon's success and power is beyond all question his voice. In forming my estimate of the man, I had thought to mention this first, for his voice is the finest and most attractive I have ever heard. It is pleasant, melodious, magnificent. It is full, silvery, and possesses a peculiar charm. It attracts you from the first, and so distinct that, it is said, he can be easily heard by every person in the spacious building. To realize the full charm and sweetness of his voice, you must hear another read or speak during the same service. The superiority of Mr. Spurgeon's voice is then apparent. It is soft, yet rich and full. Again, during the earlier years of his ministry, Mr. Spurgeon attracted public attention by his disregard of the customs of the age. The gown, (worn by nearly all dissenting, as well as Episcopalian ministers in Europe) the manuscript, the pulpit—Mr. S.—cared for none of them. He came before the people with a warm heart, and spoke to them of things which they could understand in plain words, and in a familiar style. This, so new and unusual in England, attracted public notice. Further, he is an earnest man. His terrible earnestness conquers success. He speaks from the heart, and his words reach the heart. This gives him power over the people; and though he is not scholarly, God has given him deep spiritual insight into His Word, and he brings forth therefrom "things new and old." Mr. Spurgeon is not a nervous man. There is nothing in his movements on the platform that indicates nervousness. There is no violent gesticulation; he moves gracefully enough, but neither quick, nor nervously. Nor is there impassioned eloquence in his sermons. Unlike Robert Hall he does not rise with his subject to a lofty height. He is seldom more eloquent or impassioned at one stage of his discourse than another. You are interested, but not carried away. On the whole he is wonderfully gifted, and I rejoice in the great and good work he is doing in London.

P. S. Since writing the above, I have heard Mr. Spurgeon for the third time. It was to-day, September 15th, and in Liverpool. The occasion was the re-opening of a Baptist chapel, Rev. Hugh Stowell Brown, Pastor, which has been undergoing repairs. The chapel is a large one, holding, it is said, two thousand persons. Every seat was occupied and many stood. The congregation was admitted by ticket, and had we not been Americans, it is doubtful whether our friend would have got tickets for us, as all had been given out before our application was made. However, we got tickets to sit or stand, whichever we chose I suppose, in the aisle, but, better than our tickets called for, a good deacon gave us good seats.

The sermon of to-day was by far the best of the three I have heard Mr. Spurgeon deliver. It was a searching, stirring appeal to lukewarm christians. He preaches again to-night, but none of those who were present this morning are allowed to go to-night. The rush to hear him was wonderful. A collection was taken up for the benefit of his orphanage in London. Mr. Spurgeon has a College in London for preparing young men for the ministry, and also in course of erection, buildings in which orphan boys are to have a home and be educated. His hands are full of work. God bless all his true and faithful servants.

The Pacific Lumber Trade.

The Weekly Oregonian says: This branch of commerce on the Pacific coast is fast becoming one of the most important features in the enterprise and industry of our people. The inexhaustible forests of the best timber in the world, which clothe a great part of the country, together with the surpassing natural facilities for their conversion into lumber and its transportation, give us an advantage over any other section of the United States. Already the lumber of this coast is finding a market in almost all parts of the globe. The extensive mills in the region of Puget Sound furnish annually many millions of feet, and supply a great and growing demand. And there is no reason why Oregon should not receive her share of the rich harvest derived from the vast amount of this product exported to other shores. Our own resources in this regard are not greatly inferior to those of our sister Territory. The northern portion of the Willeamette Valley, in almost any part of the world except the Pacific, would be deemed to be exceedingly well adapted to the production of this staple article of commerce. Portland in many respects is so situated that this branch of trade engaged in with due enterprise could not fail to be largely remunerative. Yet the three mills in our city would scarcely more than supply the home demand were it not for the quantities constantly turnished from the adjacent mills at Oswego, St. Helens and Westport. The constant growth of our city requires the annual consumption of an amount equal if not greater than that produced. Our mines, agricultural resources, fisheries, and lumber trade, combined, present the most attractive field for the paying investment of capital in the United States. Twenty and even ten years in the history of our State, with the completion of a railroad connecting us with the East, will witness astonishing rapidity in the development of their inexhaustable resources.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Rooms of the Christian Association, No. 23 Fifth street.

Fair and Festival.—A grand Fair and Festival will be held at Lafayette Hall on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 30th, October 1st and 2nd. A brass band in attendance every evening.

Every Republican should be assessed on or before Saturday.

Wanted—to Rent or Buy—A house in Allegheny, west of or on Federal street.
tf. Address, R. H., Gazette Office.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of Republicans was held at the Sharon School House, Moon Township, on Tuesday evening. Able and patriotic addresses were made by J. W. F. White and W. S. Purviance, Esqs.

Committed.—Catharine Garity was arrested in East Birmingham yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct, and taken before Justice Ammon, who, after hearing the case, imposed a fine upon the disorderly woman, and in default of payment committed her for five days.

Surety of the Peace.—John Schmitt made information before Justice Ammon, yesterday, against John and Reinhart Hay for surety of the peace. He alleges that the defendants came to his premises and pointing a pistol at him threatened to shoot him. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the Hays.

Coroner's Inquest.—Alderman Donaldson held an inquest yesterday on the body of Joel Dawson, who committed suicide at the Nonpareil Oil works, an account of which we published yesterday. The jury found that the deceased came to his death from the effects of a wound from a pistol shot inflicted by his own hand.

New Well on Cherry Tree Run.—During Sunday last a new well on Pioneer Farm, near the Porter well, was tested and the production was reported to be from two hundred to three hundred barrels per day. The well has not pumped a sufficient length of time to determine what the production will be, but it is safe to say that it will be one of the best in the region.

Alleged Larceny.—E. P. Inzer, of South Pittsburgh, made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging Joseph Griffith with the larceny of two dollars. It is alleged that the accused was entrusted with a letter addressed to the prosecutor's wife, which contained two one dollar bills, and that he failed to deliver the same. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Reorganization.—Company E of the 123d Pennsylvania Regiment is to be reorganized as a social and military organization. At a meeting of the old members, held a few evenings since, Capt. J. S. Bell and Messrs. W. W. McClelland and W. Witcher were provided with lists for the enrollment of those of the old members or others who desired to join the organization.

A Bishop in Trouble.—George Bishop has got into tronble. His particular friend, Joseph Carline, states that he obtained from him a pair of boots, valued at $8, which he persistently retains in his possession without regard to the demands of the proper owner. The Bishop was arrested on a warrant issued by Alderman Strain and committed to jail for trial at the next term of Court.

Rally at Indiana.—The Republican mass meeting in the borough of Indiana, held on Tuesday last, was much the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in that county. Two stands were used for speaking, and then the vast concourse was not adequately accommodated. Senator Pollard, of Vermont, Representatives Ely and Benton, of New Hampshire, C. S. Minor, Esq., of Pennsylvania, and Mr. F. B. Penniman made addresses.

Y. M. C. A. of Manchester—Important Meeting.—There will be an important meeting held by the Young Men's Christian Association of Manchester, at their rooms, corner Locust street and Beaver avenue, this (Thursday) evening, October 1st. A number of speakers will be present to address the meeting. All the members and THOSE INTERESTED IN THE ASSOCIATION are earnestly requested to be present, as business of vital importance will be transacted.

Eleventh Ward "Marching Phalanx."—A full attendance of those favorable to the organization of a "Marching Phalanx" in the Eleventh ward is requested at the meeting which will be held this evening in the school house at 7½ o'clock. It is desired to have the Phalanx fully equipped and in marching order as promptly as possible and all persons having uniforms or equipments are requested to report them to-night. Let all turn out and aid in pushing forward the work.

Be Assessed.—It should be remembered that all persons not having paid a State or County tax within two years, and not having been regularly assessed at least ten days prior to the election, will be deprived of exercising the right of suffrage. The Block Committees of ward organizations should see to having every voter in their district assessed. Saturday is the last day upon which persons can be assessed in order to give them a vote at the State election. Be assessed!

Alleged False Pretence.—Henry McSwiggen made information yesterday before Alderman Strain against Lawrence Purcell for false pretence. McSwiggen alleges that the defendant obtained seventy-five dollars from him by representing that he had money due him, which he would collect in a few days and pay the bill. These representations, it is said, are false, and hence the information. The accused was arrested and committed for a hearing on Friday.

Carters Mill.—Business being a little slack yesterday morning, a couple of carters endeavored to while away the time by engaging in a little "mill" on the Monongahela wharf. They pummeled each other in fine style for about half an hour, much to the delight of a crowd of little urchins, who urged them on by all the exciting and inspiring terms in their vocabulary. At last becoming tired, the amusement was brough to termination by mutual consent, and the parties withdrew to attend to business.

Personal.—Gen. O. H. Hart, one of the bravest soldiers of the late Union army, Adjutant General of the Army of the Potomac, and one of the best friends of the brave Friend Rifles, who so well represented our city in the celebrated Excelsior Brigade, arrived in the city yesterday and is stopping at the St. Charles Hotel. Last evening he was entertained by a sumptuous banquet at the hands of his old comrades in the army, and to-day he will visit the various points of interest about our city under their guardianship.

The Escort.

The "Marching Phalanx" of the Seventh and Eighth Wards Grant and Colfax Club, which claims to be the "banner" Club of the county, having been designated to act as an escort to R. Stockett Matthews, Esq., to the mass meeting at City Hall, turned out in full force last evening for that purpose, under command of Capt Samuel Kilgore and Lieutenants Wilson and Shore. The members of the Phalanx were handsomely uniformed in silver bronze colored capes and caps, and bearing lamps, presenting an exceedingly fine appearance. They especially attracted attention by their superior proficiency in drill, the whole body marching like a well disciplined company of veteran soldiers.

THE POLICE OUTRAGE.

Mayor Blackmore's "Woman Order"—Conviction of Officer Raubb and Kellar of Aggravated Assault and Battery—Trial of Officer Williams.

The Court of Quarter Sessions met at the usual hour Wednesday morning, when the cases of the Commonwealth vs. Geo. Raubb and Peter Kellar, indicted for aggravated assault and battery upon Mrs. Dr. Dake, were resumed.

Several witnesses were called by the defense to prove the reputation of the locality in which Mrs. D. was found by officer Raubb, and also to establish the good character of the defendant Kellar. The evidence then closed.

H. P. Mueller, Esq., addressed the jury in behalf of the defense, and was followed by John A. Wilson, Esq., for the Commonwealth.

Judge Sterrett charged the jury with his usual entire fairness and impartiality. Reviewing the evidence, he said the jury were to find, first, whether the arrest was lawful—whether there was anything in Mrs. Dake's conduct to cause the officer to believe she was a "street walker," thus justifying her arrest under the city ordinance authorizing the apprehension of such characters. Second, assuming the arrest was lawful, (which his Honor did not,) was there such an excess of authority and violence as to justify the conviction of the defendants of assault and battery. Then, if the jury should find the defendants guilty of assault and battery under both or either of these propositions, they were next to inquire whether, from the treatment of Mrs. Dake at the hands of defendants, she had suffered grievous bodily harm. If so, the defendants were guilty, as charged, of aggravated assault and battery. His Honor reviewed the evidence briefly. Mrs. Dake, with her colored servant, went from her residence in Penn street to Strawberry alley, between eight and nine o'clock in the evening, for a purpose stated by her. In Strawberry alley she encountered defendants, who followed her from thence, on her return, to Seventh street, without, however, accosting or speaking to her. Their movements, however, were such as to excite her apprehensions, and she entered a grocery for protection, which she there requested, giving her name and residence. The defendants entered the grocery and she endeavored to avoid them, passing behind the counter and coming through an opening near the door where she was seized. She again gave her name and residence, (as she had previously, in the presence or hearing of defendants,) and told these who held her that they were mistaken. Was Mrs. D. informed for what she was arrested? Did she know that Raubb or Kellar were officers, or did they so inform her? If the jury could not say from the evidence that either of these facts appeared, the case of defendants was aggravated. The conduct of the defendants then, was certainly such as to terrify a delicate and refined lady such as Mrs. Dake appeared to be, and her resistance was but natural.

Mr. Mueller interrupted His Honor to suggest whether the fact that no violence was required in arresting the colored boy Taylor should not be considered in connection with what transpired with Mrs. Dake, or as indicating that the officers used no more violence than was necessary in overcoming her resistance.

His Honor replied that a colored boy was one thing and a delicate, refined lady quite a different one. The jury would consider what degree of humanity was exercised by the defendants—what degree of force might have been necessary under the circumstances, taking into consideration the fact that two streng men were dealing with a delicate woman. In further summing up the case, His Honor said that if the jury should find that the defendents had acted without proper authority, their conduct was not only unlawful but outrageous.

The jury retired about noon, and after a very short absence, returned with a verdict of "guilty in manner and form as indicted."

TRIAL OF OFFICER WILLIAMS.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. John L. Williams, indicted for assault and battery on Mrs. Dake, was next taken up.

The defendant, as stated in the report of the preceding case, participated to a certain extent in the arrest of Mrs. Dake, assisting in conducting her to the Mayor's office, after she had been brought some distance by officer Raubb and Kellar.

From the evidence adduced it appears Williams first took hold of Mrs. Dake on Smithfield street, opposite the site of the new City Hall, at first seizing her quite roughly by the arm as she was stooping to to speak to some little girls who were upon the sidewalk. The crowd clamored for the release of Mrs. D., and after proceeding to nearly the corner of Smithfield and Fifth avenue, after being twice requested, Williams ordered Raubb to take the gyves from her wrist, and himself took exclusive charge of her, expressing an intention to take her to the lock-up, (tombs,) but, at the suggestion of a citizen, Mr. Finch, he took her directly to the Mayor's office, whilst Kellar proceeded with the colored boy to the tombs. Mrs. Dake stated in her testimony that Williams, when he caught hold of her, (in a very decided manner,) said he "knew her well," that she must go with him, and that he was higher in authority than officer Raubb.

There was some discrepancy in the testimony as to the conduct of Williams, reconcilable, however, from the fact that they testified from a different standpoint, or from different points of observation for the distance of about a square along Smithfield street. Those called for the defence, and who testified that Williams' conduct was in all respects humane and gentlemanly, saw him from points beyond that at which he was called on for assistance by by officer Raubb. One witness testified that Mrs. Dake consented to go with Williams, after the gyves had been taken from her hand.

Mayor Blackmore was called to contradict Mrs. Dake, who testified that she had not stated at the Mayor's office, at the time she was brought there, that officer Williams had "treated her like a gentleman." The Mayor testified that Mrs. D. stated Williams had so treated her, and repeated the statement.

Mr. Swartzwelder, of counsel for defense, inquired of the Mayor whether or not about the time of the occurrence complaints had reached him of the streets being infested with lewd characters?

Mr. Woodward, for the prosecution, objected on the ground of irrelevancy.

Mr. Swartzwelder was aware the question was not strictly relevant, and he offered it more in defense of the Mayor, who had been assailed in the public prints concerning his "woman order," than as having anything to do with the case in hand.

Judge Sterrett thought the offer entirely irrelevant, and to admit it would be equivalent to allowing the Mayor to make a "stump speech" in Court in his own defense.

Mr. Swartzwelder did not insist on his offer.

Mayor Blackmore and also Capt. M. W. Lewis, of the day police, testified to the efficiency of Williams as an officer—the Mayor considered him one of the very best he had on his force.

Dr. Lipscomb was called by the prosecution to testify as to what Mrs. Dake stated at the Mayor's office in relation to the manner in which Williams had treated her. The Dr. stated that Mrs. Dake stated Williams had not treated her as badly as the other two—Raubb and Kellar.

Dr. Dake testified likewise.

Mayor Blackmore, recalled, testified he had no recollection of Mrs. Dake saying that Williams had not treated her as badly Raubb and Kellar.

Gen. Collier made the argument to the jury on behalf of the defense. He took the view that the defendant Williams had acted in strict accordance with his duty as an officer, and that his conduct was commendable. He had answered officer Raubb's call for assistance, and was not to be held responsible for the violence previously offered to Mrs. Dake. Gen. C. did not think there was enough in the case to justify a conviction, or even to warrant the defendant being required to pay the costs.

M. W. Woodward, Esq., closed for the prosecution. He contended it had been clearly proven Williams had acted violently, brutally, when he first took hold of Mrs Dake, and that his milder action subsequently was the result of the clamor of the excited crowd for the release of the lady. The case he regarded as a highly important one, in which every good citizen had taken a lively interest. The attention of the public had before been called to the brutal conduct of policemen to prisoners, as well as unlawfully making arrests, and it was time, indeed, that a stop should be put to these outrages upon the person and liberty of the citizen. He characterized the arrest of Mrs. Dake, and her treatment by the defendant, in conjunction with Raubb and Kellar, outrageous in an extreme degree, calling for the severest punishment known to the law. A weak, delicate woman, of less than a hundred pounds in weight, had been dragged through the public streets by strong and stalwart men in the garb of officers, and for what? No single act of hers had indicated her to be the vile thing the officers would have her to be. The crowd which gathered on the street, through which she was dragged with gyves upon her wrist, recognizing in her conduct that of a lady, called out for her release, until for very shame, and overawed, the man Williams ordered the ropes to be taken from her wrist. Repeatedly she had given her name and residence, as she did when first rudely addressed by Raubb and Kellar, who sneeringly said "Oh! we know you." "We know all about you," and otherwise expressing themselves as if she was one of the lewd class. "Your mistaken, sir, I am Mrs. Dake, of 310 Penn street," she repeated, and struggled to free herself from the grasp of Raubb, whilst Kellar called to his fellow-brute "knock the d— b— down!"

Mr. Woodward made quite a forcible speech, covering the whole ground, and in conclusion remarked to the Court he took the ground that Williams was particeps criminis in the whole transaction.

Judge Sterrett thought this rather broad. There was, however, a very important question in the case which had not been adverted to by counsel on either side. As far as the case stood before the jury there was no authority shown for the arrest of Mrs. Dake, and so far as the evidence went it appeared to be a great outrage. So, assuming that the arrest was unlawful, is the defendant liable for answering the call to assist a another officer without inquiring whether the arrest was authorized or not. This, His Honor thought, was about the whole question in the case. It was an important one, and he had some doubt about it.

Gen. Collier said he had not examined the question.

Judge Sterrett expressed a desire to have the case in some shape by which the point might be raised.

Gen. Collier said he had argued to the jury upon the other point in the case, viz: whether the defendant used unnecessary violence or force in the assistance he had rendered officer Raubb.

Judge Sterrett asked the jury to state in their verdict upon which point they based it. 1st. Whether the defendant used unnecessary force and violence. 2d. Whether, when called to assist in the arrest, defendant assisted without making inquiry if the arrest was upon a warrant or otherwise lawful, and conveyed Mrs. Dake against her will to the Mayor's office, or whether she consented (according to the testimony of one witness,) to go with defendant to the Mayor's office, and that defendant took her there, using no more force than was necessary.

The second proposition his Honor repeated he considered of great importance, as it involved on the one hand the public safety, and on the other the efficiency of the police.

The jury had not agreed upon a verdict at adjournment.

The Supreme Judgeship—Meeting of the Republican County Committee.

At a meeting of the Republican County Committee of Allegheny, held yesterday, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Williams, believing it to be the most proper and suitable that could be made and the most acceptable to the whole people of Pennsylvania, and especially to that majority of her loyal voters who, in October last, in casting their votes for Judge Williams testified to their appreciation of him as an accomplished, fearless, honest, learned and upright Judge.

Resolved, That the Chairman of this Committee appoint a committee of not less than nine to present this resolution to Governor Geary, to confer with him on this subject, and to urge the appointment of Judge Williams.

Meeting in Birmingham.

The German Republicans of the South Side held a meeting in the Diamond square, Birminghom, last evening, which was attended by over two thousand persons. A large delegation going from this city was met at the south end of the Monongahela bridge by the Grant clubs of the south side, equipped and with torches, and were escorted to the place of meeting, after parading through the several streets. The meeting was organized by calling John Nusser to the Chair.

Captain F. Schluembach was then introduced to the audience and delivered an address in German, which judging from the enthusiasm it created and the frequent bursts of applause, was fully appreciated by the honest, hard working Germans who composed the meeting.

We sincerely regret that our esteemed friend, Mr. S. W. Reynolds, was unsuccessful, as he has certainly been a most efficient representative during the past year, and very popular with his fellow-members. The other candidates, Messrs. McMahon and Wainwright for Select, and Messrs. Pearson and Chislett for Common Council, rank among the very best citizens of the ward, and will prove faithful to their trust if elected, of which there can be no doubt.

County Agricultural Society.

The Board of Managers of the County Agricultural Society held a regular monthly meeting yesterday, at their room, No. 10 St. Clair street. Present: Messrs. Parke, Keeler, Patrick, Rees, Phillips, Jas. Murdoch, Jennings, Brush, McKelvy, Guy, Matthews, Morton, Anderson, and Captain John Young, Jr., Chairman. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Rees, from the Committee on Motive Power, reported that he would furnish an engine and boiler for use on the fair grounds during the fair, and propel such machinery as was necessary to be operated. Report accepted.

A large amount of business, preliminary to the holding of the Fair, which opens on Tuesday next, was then transacted. Committees on Police, Music, &c., were appointed, and all the arrangements completed for the opening of the Fair.

Mr. Glenn tendered his resignation as one of the Judges on Sheep and Wool, and Mr. Samuel Stevenson was appointed in his stead.

The Board then visited the Fair Grounds, and adjourned to meet on the Grounds on Tuesday morning next.

The Soldiers' Mass Convention.

The Soldiers' Mass Convention to be held in Philadelphia to-day and to-morrow promises to be one of the largest assemblies of its character ever held in the State. The most extensive arrangements have been made for the accommodation of those who may visit that city for participation in the Convention, and we have no doubt all will be accommodated as well as the circumstances of the case will permit. The principal portion of the delegation of this city, consisting of the Second Ward Grant Club, commanded by T. H. Phelps, the Allegheny County Tanners' Club, under Colonel Joe. Brown, and a detachment of over five hundred Boys in Blue, under command of Col. Geo. F. Morgan, left on a special train at five o'clock last evening. The delegation numbered over seven hundred, and were accompanied by the Germania Turner Band. The delegations formed at four o,clock, and preceded by the band, marched to the Union Depot, by way of Fifth avenue, Smithfield and Liberty streets. In addition to this detachment, a large delegation left on the evening train, so that the entire delegation from this city and vicinity will number fully one thousand men.

We noticed quite a respectable delegation from Fayette county, and one equally as large from Washington county, and were informed that Beaver had also sent a large delegation.

Meeting in the Twelfth Ward.

A large meeting of the Republicans of the Twelfth ward was held in their Wigwam last evening. H. C. Mackrell, Esq., was called to the Chair, and Messrs. David Robb, Thomas Simpson and Jas. Mackrell, Sr., were appointed Vice Presidents, and Thomas Rosewell, Jr., Secretary. Speeches were made by Gen. Wm. Blakely, Hon. John N. Purviance, John S. Lambie and J. E. McKelvy, Esqs. Prof. J. W. Pope was present and rendered in fine style a number of his popular songs.

Grand Opening.—To-day Mr. J. H. Hillerman, the well known dealer, No. 75 Wood street, will open one of the largest and most finely selected stocks of ladies' furs ever displayed in Pittsburgh. The stock is thoroughly complete and ladies and others interested, are invited to call, as no where else can they obtain better selections at more reasonable prices. Great pleasure is taken in showing the goods to all who may call. Remember the place, No. 75 Wood street.

Suicide at Natrona.

John Feine, employed at the Pennsylvania Salt Company's Works, at Natrona, on the Allegheny river, committed suicide on Monday under the following circumstances: It seems he had a difficulty with his wife on the morning in question, and shortly afterwards he went into the chemical room connected with the works and asked for some sulphuric acid, stating that he wished to use it in soldering. The attendant, suspecting nothing, gave him the article. Feine then went back to his house and shutting himself up in his room swallowed the poison. He was immediately taken sick, and the family, knowing nothing of his action, summoned a physician. When the physician arrived at the house Feine confessed that he had poisoned himself, but seemed to regret his action. All that medical skill and attention could do was rendered, but no relief could be afforded, and the man expired the next day at noon, after lingering twenty-three hours in intense agony. Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest on the body, when the above particulars were elicited and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with them.

In the Shoe Business.

David Matthews and William Thompson, residents of Allegheny City, were on this side of the river yesterday for the purpose, it appears, of doing business after their own fashion, and decided to go into the shoe business. They visited the Opera House auction rooms, and while examining the stock each appropriated a pair of shoes and secreted them. The clerk who was waiting on them observed the movement and kept his eye upon them, having in the meantime sent for an officer. Officer Herron responded to the call, and just as he arrived at the door of the establishment Matthews passed out with a pair of shoes in his hand. He was pointed out to the officer by the clerk, arrested and taken to the lock-up. On his way thither he "peeched" on Thompson, and the officer returned and arrested him, but not until after he had disposed of his shoes, which were found after his arrest lying on some carpet in the back part of the room. Information was made before the Mayor charging them both with larceny, and they were locked up for a hearing.

Resigned.

Mr. E. T. Cook, the urbane Superintendent of the Young Men's Christian Association, has been compelled to relinquish the position on account of ill health, and at the last meeting of the Board of Directors, held a few evenings since, he presented his resignation, which under the circumstances could not but be accepted. Mr. Cook made many friends while in the position, and retires with the good wishes of all with whom he had intercourse. Our active and gentlemanly friend, E. P. Long, Esq., has been selected to fill the place and will commence his duties to-day. Mr. Long has been connected with the association for about a year as Assistant Superintendent, is thoroughly familiar with the work and the Board of Directors have certainly made an excellent choice.

Advice That Should Be Heeded.

We desire to call the attention of the afflicted to the merits of Roback's Blood Pills, a purely vegetable cathartic, free from mercury and all mineral poisons, and undoubtedly the best remedy extant for the radical cure of nervous and sick headache, bilious disorders and all affections of the Liver and Blood. They are, as their name indicates, a Blood Pill; they search the blood for disease and strike at the very root, thereby effecting not temporary but permanent cures. As a purgative, they are all that can be desired, being mild and safe in their operation and unquestionably one of our most satisfactory Cathartic Pills, and should be kept in every household, and, when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Purifier, are unequalled for curing Scrofula, Skin Disease, Old Sores, Salt Rheum, Dyspepsia, Erysipelas, Tumors, Eruptions, and all diseases arising from a disordered state of the blood or a disorganized state of the system. Try these medicines and you will never regret it. Ask those who have used them, and they will tell you they are the best of medicines. Sold by all druggists everywhere. TTsT

When the PLANTATION BITTERS were first made known to the American people some seven years ago, it was supposed they were an entirely new thing, and had never before been used. So far as their general use in the United States is concerned, this may be true. It is also true that the same Bitters were made and sold in the Island of St. Thomas, over forty years ago, as any old planter, merchant or sea captain doing business in the West Indies will tell you. It is distinctly within my recollection that on the return of my father (who was a sea captain, and doing an extensive trade in the tropics,) he would invariably have the Bitters among the ship's stores, and our family sideboard was nevar without them. For any sickness, it matters not how severe or trifling, the decanter of these Bitters, by a different name, was always resorted to as a sovereign remedy. TH.S.T:F.

EAST BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 30, 1868.

MESSRS. EDITORS GAZETTE: In the issue of the Pittsburgh Post of the 29th there was an article reflecting severely on the firm of Chess, Smyth & Co., in which it is alleged that five employés of the above firm were discharged for not participating in the procession of the 24th. In justice to the firm and the undersigned, we wish you to publish this as a flat denial to the above charge; for, instead of discharging men for not participating in the procession, it was only by the solicitation of some of their employés that they were represented. Although it was but by a small delegation, yet we promise the editor of that delectable sheet, the Post, that should an opportunity again offer they will turn out a much larger delegation, and this, too, without having resort to the threats insinuated by the Post. As to the assertion that there were some who represented the above firm who would vote for Seymour and Blair, we also pronounce it utterly false, as the undersigned constituted the entire party, and if the editor of the Post expects any votes for his candidates from this crowd he had better start in right sudden to proselyting.
